MARNE DIVIDE STOCK IS CALLED

In connection with the calling of the stock of the Marne Divide Mining company on the board today for the first time since incorporation of the company, the management announces that installation of the surface plant has been completed and all arrangements have been made for resumption of work pending settlement of the labor situation.

The shaft plant consists of a 25 h p electric hoist transformers, power line, and head frame. Two bank houses and a boarding house have been erected and are ready for occupancy.

The shaft has been sunk, full double compartment, sixty feet, and has been in the typical Divide broom from the surface. It is proposed to sink the shaft 150 feet deep and then crosscut approximately 100 feet to the intersection of what is believed to be the junction of two fault zones.

SALE OF CLAIMS AT ARROWHEAD

Another big deal was put over today at Arrowhead where the Hyde group of five claims passed into the hands of a syndicate consisting of Al Thacker, James F. McKay, Al McElroy of Tonopah and J. H. Goodman of Ely, on a bond and lease which no doubt will be taken up before the expiration of the time specified. The Tonopah men associated in the option are all well known and include the best prospectors and mine buyers in the state.

The group was located by W. S. Hyde, one of the old timers of the valley, who operates a ranch on the edge of Railroad Valley. Returns from a cold sample taken at the entry into the sulphide zone were received at 2:30 this afternoon showing the values to run from $12.30 to $28.05 in gold and silver, with the latter values predominating.

Mrs. George Hislop committed suicide this morning by cutting her throat from ear to ear, severing the jugular vein and dying instantly. From the contents of a letter written last evening and addressed to her sister, Mrs. Nettie Teeter, Weenatche, Wash., it is believed the woman was suffering from temporary derangement caused by brooding over fancied domestic trouble.

Mrs. Hislop arose at 7 o'clock this morning and proceeded to build the kitchen fire as usual. Then taking an axe she entered the room where her husband and four-year-old child were lying in bed and dealt the man a stunning blow on the temple with the blunt end of the axe. Hislop was knocked unconscious and the rest is only known from circumstantial evidence. A deep gash across the side of the face that cut clear to the bone, leads to the belief that Mrs. Hislop followed her first attack with another blow administered with the sharp edge of the weapon which left her victim weltering in his blood that deluged the bed. Leaving the house Mrs. Hislop went to a shed or garage in the rear, where she was found dead. The gash caused by the second blow extends from the right eye down the side of the nose to the chin, cutting into the bone.

Three daughters ranging from 4 to 3 years of age slept through the tragedy and knew nothing of what happened until they were aroused by a brother of Mr. Hislop, who (Continued on Page Four)

THREE KILLED IN SHIPS HOLD

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—Imprisoned beneath the sealed hatches of the China mail steamer Nanking yesterday afternoon, three non-union stowaways were asphyxiated with fumigating gases. The dead are: J. Samayoa, 26; J. Coracco, 20; J. Serocco, 30.

When the hatches were opened after the fumigating process, members of the crew discovered the bodies of the three men. In the police investigation which followed the tragedy, Captain T. H. Dobson declared to Detective Sergeant John Mannion that the steamer is scheduled to sail Friday for the Orient, and that under orders of the quarantine officer all persons were ordered ashore yesterday when the fumigating process started.

Captain Dobson asserted that four of the ship's officers made an inspection before the hatches were hatched down, and were convinced that all persons were ashore.

Coracco and Serocco were employed by the Shimer Stevedore company of 38 Stuart street. Samayoa was to have reported to the same firm for work yesterday morning, but for some unknown reason had not been engaged.

How he came to be aboard the ship when the hatches were sealed is a mystery the police haven't solved. It is asserted that in the holds of the vessel the ship's officers called out that the hatches were to be sealed and warned everyone to leave the ship.

Stowaways on the wharf told the police that they believed Coracco and Serocco were hiding from the timekeeper and that Samayoa was keeping them company.

The three bodies were taken from the hold of the ship to the morgue.
